

Affinity and Ally Facilitator Training

Save the Date
Limited Spaces Available
Registration is required!

Date: February 7 & 8

Location: Cape Point Hotel, 476 Main St, West Yarmouth, MA

We will be gathering for two days with LaVerne Saunders and Catherine Quinerly to learn about:

- What an affinity group is, what an ally is, and how to use these two things to bring about greater connection and understanding between groups whose members hold many different cultural identities.
- This training will enable participants to identify and reflect upon their various identities: racial or ethnic, linguistic, social and more.
- This training will provide opportunities for participants to share about their identities with others who are not in that cultural group.
- This training will give participants an approach to respectfully inquire about the unique needs, wishes and problems these groups face.
- This training will teach participants about the heart, attitude and skills needed to ally to any cultural group different from their own, interacting in such a way as to better support that group in the way its members say would be most helpful for the liberation, strengthening and development of their cultural group.

We would like to hear more about how you would use this training in your communities. Please complete a brief application on Survey Monkey
